

namaste

Compatibility

Name VS. Name

Sector	Name	Name	VS.	Challenges
Soul urge
Looking glass
True you
Birthforce
Destiny
Achievement
Approach to life
Final destinations
Years	2011
	2012
	2013
Zodiac ? vs. ?

Well, that is it for now. But before I go, I would like to leave you with a few thoughts. My favourite of all times is Dolly Parton's; "find out who you are and do it on purpose!" and then the next in line is Oprah Winfrey's "what we should be doing with our lives comes to us in a whisper, then a message, then a crisis, then a disaster. So it pays to listen to the whisper!"

The answers to anything lie within yourself always. Sometimes we become so consumed with problems that it's too fuzzy and we need to seek counsel elsewhere, like visiting a numerologist or a tarot reader or a medium, which is absolutely fine, but we can only help you so far. No one can help you more than you can help yourself. The spot between your eyes is your sixth Chakra, better known as your third eye. Play your favourite soothing music, light a black and a white candle, light some incense and then ask your higher power to protect you, this can be an Angel, Deity, God, Animal, Guide, Higher self etc... ask them to assist you in opening your third eye and assist you in interpreting the answers to all your questions. How exciting!

And the same goes for things that you wish to attract or subtract from your life. Follow the same meditation process and ask you higher power to remove xyz from your life and enhance it with xyz. Do it as often as you like. Remember that you reap what you sew... so, sew a lot. Thoughts manifest into the real world, so always make sure that you ask for things in perfect love and perfect trust an it harm none, so mote it be! For more serious and imminent matters, write them down on paper, burn it and blow it into the wind. Vision boards or a "want" book are fabulous ways of directing your life in the direction you want it to go. Vision boards are great. Get a piece of cardboard stick it up on a wall that you see all the time and start sticking picture up on it of things that you want in your life.

And when it comes to your partner. Take time to find out who they are. They are with us for a reason, a season or a life time and it is not by chance that they are there. Have fun discovering one another and live happily in conjunction with one another. Help to build each other's weaknesses and promote the strengths. When you clash, do those things which you have in common to help the healing process. But most importantly, always act with respect, love, light and laughter. The rest works itself out.

Please feel free to join Namaste's fan page by clicking this link:

<http://www.facebook.com/NamasteSA>

And then leave your comments on this Numerology discussion board. All your thoughts are welcome:

<http://www.facebook.com/topic.php?uid=165584116794079&topic=326>

Love, light & laughter, Ms. Halwell

